Retreat Aims

This weekend retreat is aimed at those who wish to develop a deeper understanding of themselves in relationship with others and nature. The purpose of this retreat is to enhance personal understanding and support participants to take learnings back into their lives.

We will be working with outdoor immersion, movement, meditation, breath–work, relationship with place and group process, and will be adapting to whatever emerges.

Facilitators

John Fleming (MBACP / PCC / TA Dip.) is a counsellor, coach, and shamanism practitioner. He has a background in holistic therapy and a keen interest in eco therapy.

Rebecca Elston (CTA P / UKCP Reg.) is an indoor and outdoor psychotherapist and eco therapist. She has an interest in working in relationship with the natural environment, working with the body, and somatic processing.

Accommodation

Camping is available on site at no additional charge, other accommodation can be found within a short drive of Mill House. We recommend that you book your accommodation based on your preferences and budget. Parking will be available on site.
